No Positive Clue To Whereabouts Of Three Fugitives, Objects of Manhunt

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Without a single positive clue for nearly 72 hours, police officials clung stubbornly today to the belief that three fugitive bank robbers, target of Pennsylvania's greatest manhunt in years, still might be holed up somewhere near this northeastern industrial city.

They acknowledged, however, a growing possibility that the men had slipped away.

State police, FBI men and local officers, all heavily armed, were cautiously on the lookout for the three who have been described officially as "desperate and vicious." Roadblocks and patrols covered main and rural roads over an area hundreds of miles square.

May Still Be In Area

"There is nothing to indicate the fugitives have gotten out of this area," said Arthur Cornelius, agent-in-charge of the Philadelphia FBI office.

He disclosed that additional G-men were summoned here yesterday after one "hot tip" that the men had been seen near Pen-Mar, Pa., 120 miles to the south, apparently was canceled by a fruitless search.

Officers got a steady trickle of reports that one or more of the men had been seen. Every one was given a quick and thorough check. But state police admitted that the last time they were certain the fugitives had been seen was about 10 a.m. Friday at near-by Guthrie.

Officers said they were confident that the three men had not gotten the stolen car in which they were riding past the many roadblocks thrown up about that time. But the two-tone Pontiac sedan hadn't been sighted and officers said it was possible the men might have obtained another car, or cars.

5 Cars Reported Stolen

Five autos have been reported stolen within a 100-mile radius of here within 48 hours. One which was being sought particularly was a maroon 1950 Studebaker sedan taken from an Allentown street early Saturday.

The fugitives are Joseph Nolen, 26, and his brother Ballard, 22, both of Harlan County, Ky., and Elmer Schuer, 21, of Chicago. All were serving long terms for bank robbery when they fled the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., early Wednesday.

Since then they have stolen at least four cars; knifed one man; looted a West Reading, Pa., sporting goods store of six shotguns and a quantity of ammunition; held a family of seven captive for 19 hours while they ate and rested, and obtained $240 in the holdup of a roadside diner at Hamburg, Pa.

Help For School Girl Is Not Being Accepted

Sedalia has a big heart and is most generous, but for once such interest is not necessary—at least that is the opinion today.

In Sunday's Democrat there appeared a story about a girl who had lost her savings to a purse thief. It was said she needed the funds to buy clothes for school.

Calls came in from many sources offering assistance. Some wanted to pay part of her loss, others would pay it all if it meant she could continue her schooling.

Then, with the offers on hand, the reporter found he had an unusual story. From what he considered a very reliable source he had received only part of the facts. The other circumstances, he learned, nullified some of those he had received and led to a question over accepting assistance for the girl.

At least temporarily, the matter is being tabled and no offers for help are being accepted. Unless there is new information contrary to that received since the article appeared, no offers will be accepted.

She had been ill for several months with a heart condition.

Alcoholics Anonymous Closes 2nd Annual Convention Here

The second annual two-day state-wide Alcoholics Anonymous convention was concluded at the Sedalia Armory Sunday afternoon with registration of 278 men and women from 28 districts in Missouri, also representing Kansas, Arkansas, Iowa, and Michigan.

On the program were speakers from all parts of the state. A comprehensive report on the Second Legacy Conference, held in general headquarters, New York, was given by Missouri's delegate from Kansas City. He

Ike Sees Nothing Funny About Race to Save US From Peril

Jabs at Levy Which Gov. Stevenson Has Used In Discussing Some GOP Reaction to Current National Problems

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a mildly responsive crowd at Fort Wayne, Ind., today that "I see nothing funny" about the issues of the presidential campaign.

Opening a 12-day, 12-state drive, the Republican presidential nominee said:

"I am in this business (running for office) because I believe America is in peril. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower was applauded by an estimated crowd of 5,000 persons as he jibed at the levity with which his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, has used in discussing some of the GOP reaction to political problems.

Speaks Quite Solemnly

In an obvious effort to turn this satire against Stevenson, Eisenhower said solemnly:

"We are involved in a war in Korea without any plans for winning it. We have had 170,000 casualties in killed and wounded. There is nothing funny in that."

Eisenhower told the crowd that his greatest fun in campaigning is in making off the cuff speeches. He doesn't get much enjoyment out of so-called "major" speeches, he said.

Several Indiana Republican leaders, including William E. Jenner, a U. S. Senator, and Homer Capehart, joined the campaign train at a brief stop at Monroeville and in Fort Wayne.

Jenner whose criticism of Gen. George C. Marshall as a "front for traitors" obviously has irked Eisenhower, was not included in the list of politicians scheduled to introduce the GOP nominee at seven appearances in the state.

"Glad to See Eisenhower," said Jenner, who and Eisenhower exchanged handshakes in the Fort Wayne station.

"I'm glad to see you again," said the general and then hurried on. In a series of whistle stop appearances in Indiana, the general prepared to pose political issues and inquire of his listeners if any of these is "a laughing matter."

The train's first scheduled stop was Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Adams said in a statement that Eisenhower himself "will continue to present honestly, simply but thoroughly to the American people the issues and problems that confront them at these critical times."

This presentation was expected to take the form in the 12-day, 12-state train tour on which he has embarked, of a three-pronged attack on Democrats on the issues of Korea, corruption and communism.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, one of the general's top advisers, told this reporter the Eisenhower camp is convinced by a private survey of its own that Korea tops all other issues in eight Midwest farm states.

Korea Is Top Issue

Carlson said voters were asked to name from a list of 10 their choice of the top issue. He said 27.4 per cent put Korea ahead of all others.

Eisenhower has accused the Truman administration of "bungling" its way into the Korean conflict. Stevenson has defended President Truman's actions.

As Eisenhower's 18-car special train rolled into the areas where Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio got strong pre-convention support in his losing battle for the GOP nomination, the general's aides met with silence a threatened defection by Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican.

Morse, who previously had of

Explosion In St. Joe Power Plant Causes Vast Damage Today

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A violent explosion in the Lower Lake Road generating plant of the St. Joseph Light & Power Co. early this morning caused damage that officials of the company said would total "many thousands" of dollars.

No one was injured. The portion of the plant where the blast occurred was completed only last year.

The upturn generating station can handle the electric load but supplying of steam to the packing industries from the Lower Lake Road plant will be curtailed several days.

Constitutional Convention In Europe

Other Nations Asked To Join In Planning United West Europe

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—Europe's first international constitutional convention today asked European states outside its own six-nation membership to join in work on a blueprint for a united Western Europe.

The delegates from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg—the Schuman plan countries—got off to a quick start on their constitution-drafting task with the unanimous election of Belgian Paul-Henri Spaak as their president.

The vote to hear observers from members of the 14-nation Council of Europe represented a gesture to Britain, who so far has confined her participation in moves toward European unity to membership in the council.

West Germany led the drive to silence the non-Schuman countries, but French Socialist Guy Mollet forced the issue with a demand to decide at once "whether our confederation is supposed to be open to all who want to become members or associates, or whether it is to be a closed corporation 'limited to the six Schuman plan nations.'"

The vote admitting the other nations to the debate was 49 to 0, with four abstentions.

The convention's speedy start on its task—hope to complete a constitution by March 10—posed a new challenge to British Foreign Secretary Eden who arrived last night from London to outline Britain's position toward this newest move toward European unity.

The British diplomat is the author of his own Eden plan to coordinate such supra-national European communities as the Schuman group and the projected European Defense Community (EDC) under the Council of Europe, of which Britain is a member. Some advocates of continental unity see the Eden plan as a British attempt to brake progress toward a European federation.

Farouk Bored With His Life On Capri Isle

ISLE OF CAPRI (AP)—A forlorn Farouk, once King of Egypt, appears bored to death with life on this flowered island.

The exiled ex-monarch has nothing to do but play on romantic Capri, where a year ago he spent his honeymoon.

Like a caged lion, he shuffles about his 285 ponds covered with loose-fitting sport clothes. He wears trousers and sandals. His hairy chest is sometimes bare, sometimes covered with an open-throated white shirt.

He smokes big cigars one after another. Possessor of an enormous appetite, he easily out-eats all the rest of his family. This includes what he calls a light breakfast. One morning he put away 10 eggs.

Farouk gets up at 7 almost every morning. Usually until noon he can be found with his young king, Queen Nour, the baby king, and the two princesses at the pool of Gracie Fields' Canzone del Mare beach restaurant.

Narriman wears scantily cut, fashionable bathing suits. The young princesses spend hours in the water.

Farouk sits and watches. After lunch the ex-king busies himself for some time with his extensive correspondence. The rest of the time he reads all the newspapers and magazines he can find or sits, silent and alone, gazing over the blue Mediterranean from his hotel balcony.

Sen. Taft 'Snatches Controls'

Stevenson Declares 'Mr. GOP' Takes Over Campaign Of Gen. Eisenhower

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson said today "Senator Taft has taken over" the presidential campaign of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Stevenson told a news conference, which covered a wide range of subjects:

"This puts an entirely new aspect on the campaign and the election. Hitherto, I have had to address myself to the rival policies of both Republican parties because it was not certain whether Taft or the general would end up in the command post. It now appears brutally clear that Senator Taft has taken over."

Stevenson said he believed many people would be "genuinely alarmed" by the turn he said the Republicans have taken since the Friday conference between Taft and Eisenhower.

Taft Clings to Views
"Whose views will prevail," he asked, "because, clearly, they cannot be reconciled? Senator Taft says he has not abandoned his views. Has the general abandoned his?"

Replying to questions, Stevenson also said:

1. He believes "substantial reductions" in the federal budget and taxes can be expected by fiscal 1955, depending upon the progress of the rearmament program and the international situation.

2. He has exchanged several letters and had telephone conversations with President Truman since he began campaigning. "The letters, were mostly very kind, expressing satisfaction and approval with my campaign to date."

3. He "certainly approves of anything" the President does in support of his campaign.

4. He does not believe he will propose the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

5. He does not endorse all the Democratic candidates for election this year. "I will endorse individuals."

He does not know the points of disagreement between himself and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia. Stevenson expressed the utmost regard for Senator Byrd as a public servant. "I respect his anxiety to reduce the cost of government. I respect his integrity. I would be the first to assert his right to disagree wherever he chooses."

Taft "Dictates Terms"

Stevenson, referring to what he said has happened in the Republican ranks since the Taft-Eisenhower meeting, declared, "Senator Taft says he prepared his statement before he saw the general. This must be the first time that the vanquished dictated peace terms to the victor."

"From what I've read and messages I've received, I gather that the Republican progressives who fought so hard for the general at Chicago are wondering what has become of the 'great crusade.' So am I."

On other points, Stevenson said he favors lowering the voting age to 18. He said the Democratic platform of 1948 contained that recommendation. He repeated his feeling that "the end and not the means" is important with respect to a new labor law. And he declared he still feels that the Taft-Hartley law should be repealed simultaneously with the enactment of a new labor law.

Tells of Future Talks

Stevenson indicated that he would discuss such issues as universal military training and wage-price controls, and possibly during the campaign trip to the Atlantic seaboard which will begin Thursday.

A number of questions were directed to the matter of his relations with President Truman, and the part the President is playing in his campaign. Stevenson said "I certainly approve of anything he chooses to do in support of my campaign."

Both men were still jittery, but are recovering.

Chinese Reds falsely accused Father Maurice Kavanagh of Westford, Ireland, and Father Joseph Schyns of Brussels of heading a spy ring in Peiping. The two said they were tortured almost continuously for 14 months.

Father Kavanagh said his arms once were chained for weeks. Another time he was seated on a chair, and his feet placed on another chair. The Reds took turns

Dewey Suspects AFL Confab May Be Democratic Clambake

New York Governor Speaks at Session Today; Later In Week Convention Is Expected to Endorse Stevenson

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL's 71st annual convention got off to a political start today, leading Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, to wonder if it's going to be "a Democratic clambake."

The convention is expected to endorse Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for president on the Democratic ticket and one of the first speakers, Martin T. Lacey, lost no time in fixing its course.

Lacey preceded AFL President William Green in his opening address to the convention.

Lacey, president of the AFL-CIO Trades and Labor Council, lambasted the Taft-Hartley law and said he didn't see how any trade unionist can support the party behind it. The Taft-Hartley law is primarily a Republican law.

Dewey, a chief backer of Republican Candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, drew a laugh when he followed Lacey and told the convention:

"Mr. Lacey suspects this is a Democratic clambake."

Asked Taft-Hartley Repeal

Lacey told the delegates: "If we are to present a united front to our enemies in the political field, there must be no political scabbard. The trade unionist who votes for a candidate who is not a dependable friend of labor is strike-breaking at the ballot box."

Lacey went on to say that the AFL submitted platform planks to both parties calling for Taft-Hartley repeal.

"The Republican party rejected our proposal and declared flatly for retention of Taft-Hartley," he said. "The Democratic party reacted sympathetically to our proposals and even more flatly declared for repeal of Taft-Hartley, using almost the identical language of the AFL representatives."

Decision on a presidential choice is expected to be made a week from tomorrow after the convention has heard addresses by Stevenson and his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The general will talk Wednesday, and Stevenson next Monday.

The 752 convention delegates represent some eight million AFL members.

The AFL's Executive Council filed a report last night in which it denounced the Taft-Hartley Act as a "disaster failure" and called the wage-price control program unfair to labor.

Green made it clear at a pre-convention news conference that if the delegates decide on a presidential choice it will be largely—if not entirely—based on the candidates' views and their party platforms regarding the Taft-Hartley Act.

Stevenson and the Democratic platform advocate repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and a new labor relations act. Eisenhower is against repeal, but has recommended revisions to improve the law without changing its "basic principles."

Awake Ike's Statement
"This is bound to have an effect on the delegates," Green said. He added that they were waiting to "see what Eisenhower has to say."

If the AFL Convention formally endorses either candidate, it will sitting on his knees and bouncing up and down. He fainted repeatedly. His joints were temporarily paralyzed and running sores covered his broken skin.

Father Schyns suffered similar treatment, but he said the worst was the beard pulling.

First the Reds knocked him to the floor and pulled him from wall to wall by his beard. Next they knotted a small rope to the beard, tied the other end to a hook in a wall, grabbed his legs and ran until the rope snapped then short.

Sometimes part of the beard ripped out; sometimes the knot slipped. Several times he thought his neck was broken.

The priests refused to confess to false charges. Father Kavanagh said they were expelled two months ago.

Welsh said the outstate picture also is good for the party. He said Welsh and Sen. James P. Kem, seeking re-election, are being received well by large crowds "even in what is called Little Dixie."

Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech here next Saturday will touch off the GOP drive for St. Louis votes. The Republican presidential candidate will address the national Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Warrensburg Under Medical Martial Law

After Two Polio Deaths, Schools And Parks Closed

WARRENSBURG, Mo. (AP)—A virtual medical martial law was clamped on this town of 7,000 today in an attempt to halt a further spread of polio.

Two children died from the disease here last week. A total of 21 persons have been hospitalized this year.

School officials have ordered the closing of all public schools and parks, in Warrensburg, Centerville and Leeton.

The entire city of Warrensburg will be sprayed with a strong DDT solution within the next few days.

No person under 18 years of age will be permitted to enter motion picture theaters or other amusement places.

School-age children are being brought in from outlying rural areas into Warrensburg and Leeton and are being kept under strict supervision.

The city of Warrensburg has ordered a complete cleanup of all empty lots in the city, promising arrest for failure to do so.

City officials met this morning with doctors from the state department of health, college, local health department and chamber of commerce officials.

Mayor Harry R. Garrison issued a statement saying that "every possible measure is being taken to stop the epidemic." He asked that people prevent panic.

A city-wide inspection of restaurants will be started immediately. Warrensburg has an up-to-date medical center, but no room for isolation cases. There is no iron lung.

Any case, definitely diagnosed as polio, is rushed to Kansas City, 50 miles away.

Central Missouri State College, at Warrensburg, is not closing. However, school officials said the physical education programs and laboratory programs will be curtailed.

Latest victims of the polio last week were five-year-old Billy Parmley and 16-month-old Jamie Buehne. A third death was reported in the county several weeks ago.

Pfeiffer's Woods To Park Board After Tonight

The city will turn over the Pfeiffer's Woods Park to the local park board tonight at the City Council meeting. Since its purchase, the area has been undergoing a large improvement project which included the construction of a new drainage system and the clearing away of many trees and much debris.

The street and alley department and the city sanitation department have both been working at the site and have finished cleaning up the grounds and have hand raked the entire area and sowed grass seed.

The area now is covered with well spaced shade trees. The drainage ditch, which formerly wound around through the area, has been cleaned and re-routed through the park.

In cleaning up the area, a house and several sheds were removed and the grounds where they previously stood were landscaped.

Some party leaders said here Saturday that Howard Elliott of St. Louis county, GOP gubernatorial candidate, has strong appeal to both labor and Negro groups. Combined they make up a large segment of the city's voting population and in the past have largely gone Democratic.

A. D. Welsh, Republican national committeeman for Missouri, said, "Mr. Elliott has many offers of support from both labor and Negro leaders. He has taken the lead in proposing a state fair employment practices commission which will eliminate job discrimination against Negroes."

Welsh said the outstate picture also is good for the party. He said Welsh and Sen. James P. Kem, seeking re-election, are being received well by large crowds "even in what is called Little Dixie."

Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech here next Saturday will touch off the GOP drive for St. Louis votes. The Republican presidential candidate will address the national Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Sabres Scrap 9 MIGs

Those Shot Down, Two Others Likely Destroyed In Air Battles Over Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—U. S. Sabre jet pilots destroyed at least nine Communist MIG-15s today while flying protective cover for Allied fighter-bombers attacking Red targets deep in North Korea, the Air Force announced.

Eight MIGs were shot down, one was maneuvered into crashing, another probably was destroyed and two were damaged in 11 separate battles. Fighting ranged from 30,000 feet down to tree-top level.

The fighter-bombers plastered a Communist industrial complex at Sinuiju, only a few miles from the Manchurian border. Targets included an oxygen plant, an alcohol distillery and a rope factory.

80 MIGs In Flight

More than 80 MIGs roared across the Yalu River from their big base at Antung in an attempt to protect the sprawling targets. They ran into 104 swift Sabres and the opposing jets broke off into a series of twisting, turning dog fights.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said the day's bag of MIGs brought to at least 41 the number destroyed this month. Forty were KO'd by Air Force pilots and one by a carrier-based Marine pilot. If a MIG which was outmaneuvered into crashing is officially confirmed, the total will be 42, within two of the one-month record of 44 racked up last April.

Allied losses, if any, will be reported later in a weekend summary.

Twenty-four F-84 Thunderjets hit Sinuiju in mid-afternoon to get the assault under way. They dropped tons of high explosives and fired thousands of machinegun bullets into the targets.

Smoke Follows Bombing

Pilots reported dense clouds of smoke after the first bombing runs.

The Air Force said the rope factory appeared to be destroyed.

"It went up in flames like a matchbox," said Capt. Peter B. Van Brussell, Chicago.

Two nearby industrial buildings also were reported destroyed.

Bombs from other Thunderjets flattened the oxygen plant, a T-shaped group of four large buildings. The bombs set off three roaring explosions, each of which erupted in huge clouds of smoke.

Allied pilots reported 14 direct hits on the alcohol distillery and direct hits on two structures near the oxygen plant.

At first they thought the woman said chicken feed, but then the people at the city hall realized that she had actually said that "chicken feed" were lying in the middle of Broadway, just west of Missouri — in fact several dozen of them.

After checking the story it was found that there were several foot of fowl feet scattered around Broadway with "no body" around.

As soon as the feet had been found, however, they were cleared off the street and a right of way for only pedestrian feet was made.

'Doesn't Anybody Love Us, Daddy?'

*The Washington Merry-Go-Round Costello's Capital Front

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1932. By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — One reason why Frankie Costello, champion of the gambling underworld, has not hitherto been deported probably was his friends in high places. Some of these friends in Congress have just been revealed through a little black book carried by Costello's Washington lobbyist, Murray Olif, whose job it was to defeat the anti-slot machine bill and block other legislation which would hamper gambling.

The Justice department has known more than five years that Costello could be deported because he lied about a previous conviction when he took the oath as a naturalized citizen. Furthermore, I personally called this to the attention of Howard McGrath when he was attorney general, and incidentally to the attention of other Justice department officials. But only last week did the new attorney general, James P. McGranery, finally announce that proceedings would be started to deport Costello.

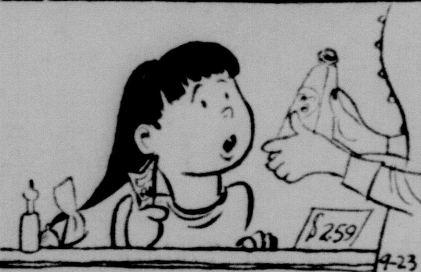

The man who did Costello's lobbying, Murray Olif, an ex-convict and former prison mate of Jake Guzik, occupied a suite at the fashionable Congressional hotel within a stone's throw of the Capitol. He picked up tabs at the bar for congressmen, lent his phone for long-distance calls, and threw shrimp parties every Friday night. Costello's partner, Joe Adonis, hid there overnight while the Kefauver committee was searching for him. Meyer Lansky, another notorious gangster, parked his car at the Congressional hotel's garage and charged the bill to Olif's apartment. From there Olif was also on the phone to gangland chiefs throughout the country — "Dandy Phil" Kastel in New Orleans, "Greasy Thumb" Jake Guzik in Chicago and Morris Kleinman in Cleveland.

Meanwhile, Congressmen were wandering in and out of Olif's room or huddling with him at the Congressional bar. Costello's lobbyist also had about $60,000 in cash from the Costello treasury to distribute in the right places. No wonder Costello, sitting in New York, felt relatively easy about the possibility of being deported. This column reported two years ago Olif was Costello's lobbyist, but five congressmen, Jimmy Morrison of Louisiana, Louis Rabaut of Michigan, Edwin Willis of Louisiana, Jim Murphy of Staten Island, N. Y., Chester Gorski of Buffalo, N. Y., and Phil Wicks of Missouri, continued to associate with him. Edith Scheffer, secretary to Congressman Welch, borrowed money from Olif and made long distance calls to such places as Detroit and Madison, Wis., charged to Olif's bill. When this column asked her for an explanation, she blurted: "I'm stunned. Where did you get your information?" However, she refused to comment until she "cleared it with the congressman." She never called back.

Secret diplomatic dispatches last week carried word that the powerful Arab league has threatened an economic boycott against Western Germany. Arab diplomats have already slipped in to see top leaders at Bonn, the seat of Free Germany, to warn them that the Arab nations will stop buying German goods if the reparations debt to Israel is paid.

The warning was delivered just before Western Germany signed an agreement last week to pay the struggling Jewish state $22 million dollars in reparations over a 14-year period. Since Germany has lost her market behind the Iron Curtain, she must look to the Near East as an outlet for manufactured goods. As a result, the Arab threat represented a possible loss of far more than $22 million dollars. An Arab boycott would be such a blow to German manufacturers that it might even result in the political overthrow of the present West German government. Yet in spite of pressure, the German leaders kept their bargain with the Jews.

The Arab league, which flirted with Hitler during the heyday of the Nazis, is now getting encouragement from Stalin. The Communists would like nothing better than to rupture relations between Western Germany and the Arab world.

Knutz Return Home From Colorado Trip

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Knutz Jr., 32nd and Grand have returned home from a vacation trip to Denver, Colo., where they were guests at the Barth Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Knutz took many interesting sight seeing trips to points in the mountains and other places. They visited the park at Red Rock, went to Central City and through the gold mines, and in Denver saw the city museum and the state museum. The trip was made there and back on the Missouri Pacific Eagle. Mr. Knutz is employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops and Mrs. Knutz is a saleswoman at Burton's.

By not paying his dentist bill and quarreling about some others to the point where they are being refigured, Joe Parks was able to make his September income tax payment. He says he's sort of running out of quarrels and teeth, though, and he doesn't know what he'll do about next year.

SECOND MAN on the Ticket

By Edwin Lanham
Copyright by Edwin Lanham. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Although Governor Warburton, candidate for Vice President, is above reproach, his political foes have dug up something damaging in his home town of Hydetown. Warburton doesn't know what it can be and so Roy Mason, the governor's biographer, leaves the special train and goes by plane to Hydetown.

VII
A SCRUBBED-LOOKING waitress was setting the tables. She glanced up and gave me a steady, incurious look, then went on about her task. I smiled and approached her.

"Scrambled eggs, bacon, toast and coffee," I said, and sat down. "I'm sorry, sir, you'll have to wait," she said. "The grits ain't ready yet."

"I don't want grits," I said. "She gave me a strange look. 'Don't you want your grits this morning?'"

"No grits," I said, and she had given me an idea of the cosmopolitan quality of Hydetown. "Just scrambled eggs and bacon, if you can manage it."

"Sure," she said. "I can get that for you right away."

While I ate breakfast the hotel began to stir. Before I had finished, three other early morning risers came in for breakfast. I paid my check and carried my bag to the lobby.

An old man was behind the railing now, chewing a toothpick. Although he had not been among the breakfasters in the dining room, he had apparently had his grits. I put my bag down and said, "How about a room?"

"How long you aim to stay?" "Just overnight, I think."

He nodded. "We're pretty busy. All filled up this week for the big shindig. But I got a room for to-night. Sign here."

He pushed the register toward me and said I signed my name. "You only going to use one bed, ain't you?"

"Yes," My eyebrows went up at that.

"Three beds in the room," he said. "Sometimes you get these trucks late at night. One will sign up and the others sneak in somehow. That will be two fifty."

As I reached for my wallet he glanced at my signature and said, "I bet you're the fellow wrote that book about Willie Warburton."

"That's right," I said.

"Thought it was the name," he went on. "I knew Willie Warburton when he was a boy. I always had my money on Willie."

"That so?" I said, and added tentatively, "I think he'll win."

"That he will," the old man said. "He sure will. I got my money on him this time too."

It was nearly noon when I awakened. I looked for the room telephone, to call John Mills, but there was none, so I shaved and dressed and went down to the lobby. I crossed to the telephone booth and picked up the directory, and as I was looking up the number a rasping voice said, "I guess you're Mr. Roy Mason."

I turned. A lean man with gray hair and a leathery brown skin was looking me over. Spectacles were pinched on a long, thin nose, and his black bow tie and dark suit gave him a deaconish air.

"I'm Melvin Fisher," he said. "I operate this hotel."

I had not connected the name of the Fisher Arms Hotel with Melvin Fisher. I said, "Oh, yes. Mayor Fisher, isn't it?"

"That's right." His thin lips drew back and showed his teeth enough to indicate a smile. "So you're the fellow wrote that book, Mr. Mason."

"Yes, Mr. Fisher."

"It's quite a book," he said. "Yes, sir, quite a book. Kind of long on talk and lean on facts, ain't it?"

"But it was mighty good reading," he went on. "Yes, sir, I guess everybody in town expects to see Willie Warburton come galloping into town on a white horse Wednesday, waving a big shiny sword. The tight lips drew up again in a smile. I did not like his smile. "I guess he won't be riding a horse, though," Melvin Fisher said. "Will he?"

"It depends on what sort of transportation is available in this town, Mr. Fisher," I said.

Melvin Fisher chuckled. "I get it," he said. "Yes, sir, we're a horse-and-buggy town, all right. We're kind of all hippologists here, too."

That caught me between the eyes; they were all kicking that one lame paragraph around. But Fisher continued, "I hear they're calling him the Great Hippologist these days."

So it was already in McDonald's column, and the column was available even in Hydetown, population 3220.

"But I see you're busy," Melvin Fisher said. "I won't bother you any more, Mr. Mason. But welcome to Hydetown, and you tell Willie it will be a big day Wednesday. Yes, sir, a big day."

He walked away, still chuckling, and as I stepped into the telephone booth I saw that everyone in the lobby was looking at me. The fellow that wrote that book. I slammed the door shut and gave John Mills's number to the operator.

"Mason, did you say?" said John Mills. "You the fellow who wrote that book?"

I winced and said I was, and he said, "My office is just down the street, two doors after the bank."

I LEFT the booth and walked through the lobby to the street. There was much more life in Hydetown now, but if you analyzed it you saw that a large percentage of it was traffic passing through town on the highway. Two doors beyond the bank I saw a window lettered JOHN MILLS, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE, and a solid man with a rosy face pleasantly created from an optimistic outlook on life was waiting in the doorway.

"Mr. Mason?" he asked, and put out his hand. "Come in, come in. What do you hear from Willie Warburton?"

"Left him last night," I said. "He's making a great campaign."

How to have a winning TELEPHONE PERSONALITY by EMILY POST

We're often judged by the way we use telephone service. Good telephone technique and good telephone manners are important to a winning personality . . . and help you get the most from your telephone service.

One of my newspaper readers writes, "Nothing annoys me as much as hurrying to answer a ringing phone, only to find there is no one on the other end."

I think all of us feel that way. And there are two good rules to follow if we want to avoid this frustrating experience. When you make a call, allow the person you are calling at least a full minute to get to the phone. And when your own phone rings, answer as promptly as you can. In the long run, these two simple rules will save everyone's time and temper.

An acquaintance asks, "Mrs. Post, won't you please say something about children who hang onto busy party lines by the hour?"

This is a touchy subject, for, of course, children are part of the family, and definitely have a right to share in the use of the telephone. But forgetful teenagers who hold endless conversations over the phone should be reminded that no calls can reach you while they are monopolizing the line.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Have 41st Annual Meet

The forty-first annual meeting of the Central Missouri District Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs was held in Green Ridge Sept. 11 at the school auditorium with the president, James Pace, presiding.

The morning session opened at 10:15 with the seating of the district officers by the Orphans Home Lodge, No. 135 of Warrensburg. The women officers were each presented a corsage and the men were given buttonnieres.

The highlights of the morning program were the presentation of the Bible by Meadow Queen lodge No. 528, Windsor, and the address of welcome by the Mayor, James Stark, and the response by A. L. Pringle.

Luncheon was served at the lodge hall by the Rebekahs of the Green Ridge lodge.

The afternoon session was devoted largely to business. The highlights were special numbers by Lincoln Rebekah lodge, Monte and Loyal Rebekah lodge of Sedalia. Mrs. Lurene Hyde-man, president, and Dr. Cleo Bil-yea, vice president, of Rebekah State Assembly, both made interesting talks.

The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Marie Spencer, Slater; first vice president, Fred Scott, Boonville; second vice president, Margaret Warren, Fayette; third vice president, Lester R. Mull, California; secretary, Mrs. Catherine Spillers, Sedalia; treasurer, Henry Scudder, Marshall. Slater was selected as the 1933 meeting place.

The banquet was served at the basement dining room of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church by the ladies of the church.

Following the banquet the evening session opened at seven o'clock with singing led by Mrs. Danforth of Sedalia. The memorial service was presented by Mrs. Ridge Rebekah lodge. A beautiful floral drill was presented by the Ephraim lodge of Ottumwa, John C. Whitworth, grand master, and True E. Gardner, superintendent of the IOOF Home at Liberty, both gave interesting talks.

Following installation of officers, the meeting adjourned.

Sedalia Daughters Of Isabella Hear About Convention

The Daughters of Isabella, Sedalia Circle 310, met Wednesday, Sept. 10, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, at which time Mrs. Fred Rialti, regent, gave a report on the national convention held in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, Aug. 11 to 15.

Mrs. Rialti stated that there were 1,069 women from the United States and Canada participating in the convention and that there are 640 circles in operation, with 36 circles being instituted in the last two years. She said there had been an increase in charities of $67,265.24 in the last two years, making a total of $776,457.53.

The Rev. Henry Bafster, chaplain of the local circle, urged members to devote a few minutes a day to the recitation of the family rosary.

The regent asked the members to observe Catholic Bible Week to be held Sept. 28-Oct. 5 and to also, make plans to form discussion clubs which will get under way in October.

The welfare committee reported that 90 pounds of used clothing had been sent to NCCW for foreign relief.

Plans are being made for a "School Days Party" to be held at the social meeting on Sept. 24. The recitation of the rosary preceded the meeting.

Five Potent Middle Atlantic States May Go to Republicans

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of stories on the political situation, as of now, as seen by newspaper editors and political writers in all 48 states.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Five politically potent Middle Atlantic states—New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware—are expected by editors and political writers at this stage of the campaign to go narrowly Republican in November as they did in 1948.

As Associated Press survey, based on county-by-county and section-by-section estimates of editors and correspondents, indicates there is a composite belief that if the election were run off now, Republican presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower would roll up bigger margins of victory in most of these states than Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York did four years ago.

Even so, the margins still are so slender that two of the states, Maryland and Delaware—must be considered doubtful, although they are leaning toward the GOP at this point.

Campaign developments between now and election day could upset present calculations as to winning margins and easily toss any of these states to the Democratic nominee, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

The 105 electoral ballots of the five states are a prize politically. The states represent nearly one fifth of the total of 531 and almost two fifths of the 266 electoral votes needed to win the election.

The political soundings in this survey, are those to follow for other states, are being taken through the co-operation of Associated Press member newspapers and radio stations, other newspapers and local correspondents.

On the basis of talks with voters, research, their own knowledge of their counties, actual polls wherever possible, they were requested to estimate the percentage of the vote individual counties will cast for Eisenhower and Stevenson.

These estimates were weighted to take into account the difference in voting strength among counties, then combined into state estimates. The surveys were undertaken in late August or early September. Another state-by-state survey is planned for October.

With few exceptions, trend estimates for the Middle Atlantic states indicated that the political appraisers thought Eisenhower would run ahead if people had been voting two months before the actual election date.

Eisenhower's personal popularity was described generally as a more powerful factor in the campaign than time-for-a-change sentiment and such specific issues as high taxes and corruption in government.

Here and there, editors noted that Republicans who had preferred Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio as the presidential nominee seemed to be holding back from Eisenhower, perhaps with intentions of not voting at all. Others reported that some independent voters appeared to be turning toward the general.

Stevenson's greatest strength, as is usual for Democratic candidates, was assigned to industrial and urban areas.

State by state, this is the picture: New York 45 electoral votes.

4 THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Mon., Sept. 15, 1952

OBITUARIES

William H. Bassett

William H. Bassett, 86, well known Sedalia resident for over 40 years, died at 12:30 a. m. Sunday at the Bothwell Hospital, where he had been a patient for the past several weeks following an illness since early spring and declining health since.

Mr. Bassett was born in Cooper County April 9, 1866, the son of John and Louise White Bassett, spending a goodly portion of his life there, being engaged in farming. He was also a carpenter and in the later years of his life spent his time at the home, 423 West Fourth, where each spring he grew tomato plants and had a wide demand for them. For several years he was an employee at the MKT shops and served as a deputy sheriff of Pettis County. The family came to Sedalia in 1916.

In Cooper County on March 23, 1892 he married Miss Ella Gentry. She, with two daughters of the home Misses Mabel and Lena Bassett, and a son, W. Kirby Bassett, manager of a J. C. Penney store at Belle Fourche, S. D., and a niece, Miss Louise Williams, of Chicago, survive. The son is motoring here with his wife and will arrive this evening to remain until the funeral.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home where the Rev. William C. Bessmer, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, will conduct the funeral services at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Russell Maag, staff soloist, with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist, will sing "Rock of Ages" and "Beyond the Sunset."

Palbearers will be L. H. Kroenke, L. C. Corley, J. B. Ellis, H. L. Zornig, R. W. Hoeman and W. D. Agee.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

C. M. Woolery Services

Funeral services for Charles Milton Woolery, 73, who died on Thursday, Sept. 11, at Fortuna, were held at the Glensted Methodist church at 2 p. m. Saturday, the Rev. C. Sullens, Independence, officiating, assisted by the Rev. M. A. Thomas.

Active palbearers were Shelton Ball, Jerry Dick, Vincel Klein, Fred Schreck, Glenn Fisher, J. H. Hull, D. C. Beaman and Monte Finley. Honorary palbearers, Arthur Lampton, C. A. Gerhart, Doran Gerhart, Cloyce Paxton, W. Y. Cooper, Harry Nolting and Bert Cooper.

Music was by a quartet, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lammert, Mrs. Jack Williams and Edgar Carpenter, with Mrs. W. Y. Cooper at the piano.

Burial was in the Glensted Cemetery.

Mr. Woolery was born in Morgan County Dec. 31, 1878, son of J. C. and Emily Woolery, having lived his entire lifetime in that county with the exception of two years.

His mother passed away when he was nine months old and he was reared by a step-mother, Mrs. Sarah Margaret Woolery. He was preceded in death by his parents, four sisters and one brother, who died in infancy, and two half brothers, William H. and Rowen S. Woolery.

On June 14, '91 he was married to Miss Mattie A. Lyles. Two children Sallie E., now Mrs. Walter Gerit, and John Lyles Woolery survive with the widow and three grandsons Charles, John and Richard Gerit, one brother Charles Woolery and a number of nieces and nephews.

At an early age he joined the Self Chapel Methodist Church and some 40 years ago moved his membership to the Glensted Church, being a regular attendant until his health failed.

Mrs. Sadie Pehl Services

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the McLaughlin Chapel for Mrs. Sadie Pehl, widow of the late Otto Pehl, who died at Kansas City Thursday, the Rev. William C. Bessmer, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, officiating.

Mrs. A. H. Bratten and Miss Lydia Wagner sang, with Miss Lillian Fox at the organ.

The body was placed in the Pehl vault at Crown Hill Cemetery.

Funeral of Fred K. Kreisel

Funeral services for Fred K. Kreisel, 507 West 20th, who died at a fishing camp near St. Cloud, Minn., Thursday, were held at the St. Paul's Lutheran Church at 2 p. m. Monday, the Rev. Walter P. Strickert, pastor, officiating. Mrs. Al Schreiner and Mrs. E. J. Thomas sang with Mrs. Mildred Brackman accompanist.

Active palbearers were Glen Kreisel, Oliver Junge, Albert Kreisel, Theodore Klenworth, Herbert and Lawrence Meyer. Honorary palbearers were George Winters, Leo Mergen, John H. Rose, George Fricke and Ray Pummil.

The body had been at the Gillespie Funeral home.

Some of them say the general may do a fraction better than the New York governor, who won by only 8,300 votes four years ago.

Delaware three electoral votes. Republican but so close as to be doubtful is the combination estimate of editors of three papers covering the three counties in Delaware.

Their calculations would give Eisenhower a November victory over some 3,000 votes against a Dewey margin of 1,753 four years ago. The state cast 139,000 votes in the last presidential election.

Mr. Ellis was born in Cooper County March 24, 1880, son of the late John and Ella Felter Ellis, and was married to Miss Elizabeth Stockman Sept. 5, 1903.

Surviving him are his wife of the home and a sister, Mrs. Clara

House to Look Into Records Of K. C. Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators today get a chance to make their long-sought examination of Justice Department files on the 1946 Kansas City vote fraud case.

The Judiciary subcommittee that has been hearing charges against the department tapped Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo) to look over the records.

Bakewell wants to find out if any high-ranking Justice Department officials hampered an FBI investigation of the theft of ballots cast in Missouri's primary election that year.

The case stemmed from a Democratic primary race for Congress between Rep. Roger C. Slaughter and Enos Axtell, the latter backed by President Truman.

After Axtell won the primary but lost the November election, the Kansas City Star charged there were irregularities at the primary election polls.

A grand jury went into session. A quantity of contested ballots and other evidence was rounded up and placed in a Kansas City courthouse safe. On May 28, 1947, the impounded material was stolen from the safe. Later a woman who offered to give federal officials evidence about vote stealing was slain.

Bakewell has told reporters he can't understand why the FBI hasn't been able to collar the thieves.

And the committee, headed by Rep. Clegg (D-Ky.), has been trying to get the Justice Department to open up its files on the case since last March.

Retail Merchants Meeting Tuesday Over Yule Hours

John Heiss, chairman of the Retail Merchants Division of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, will preside.

To Widen Hiway 40 In Lafayette County

The Missouri Highway Commission this week requested bids for construction and improvements on 41.3 miles of Missouri highways, with the work expected to cost about $2,400,000. The improvements extend over about 28 miles of supplementary roads and 12.7 miles of major system highways. Bids are to be received Oct. 3 in Jefferson City.

One of the major system improvements is on U. S. Route 40 in Lafayette County.

The Lafayette project, five miles long, extends east from Bates City toward Odessa. A 24-foot wide portland cement concrete pavement will be installed there, running parallel to and on the north side of the existing 18-foot slab.

Yanks Appear To Have 4th Flag Bagged

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees appear to have their fourth successive pennant wrapped up. The fast-fading Brooklyn Dodgers are ready to be taken by the New York Giants haven't the guns with which to do it.

That was the picture following Sunday's activities which saw the Yankees win "the big one" from the Indians in Cleveland and the Giants miss a grand opportunity to cut deeper into the Dodger lead.

With southpaw Eddie Lopat and right-hander Allie Reynolds collaborating in fine style, the Yankees whipped the Indians, 7-1, to increase their American League lead over the Tribe to 2½ games. New York has 11½ games left to play and Cleveland 10.

Although shut out 4-0 by the Cincinnati Reds, the Dodgers were able to retain their three-game National League margin over the runner-up Giants when the third-place St. Louis Cardinals drubbed the New Yorkers, 14-4. The Brooks, Giants and Cards each have 12 games left to play. The Cards trail the Dodgers by seven games and the Giants by four.

In other results, the Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh, 5-2 and 2-1; Boston's Braves and Chicago's Cubs divided a doubleheader, the Braves winning the opener 1-0, and the Cubs taking the second game 3-2, in 10 innings.

Philadelphia's Athletics took two from the St. Louis Browns, 10-5 and 2-1; Washington shipped the Detroit Tigers, 6-2; and Chicago's White Sox nipped the Boston Red Sox, 4-3 in 17 innings.

Casey Stengel wouldn't call his Yankees "in" and Al Lopez wouldn't count his Indians "out," but the cold facts state plainly that if the Yankees win only six of their remaining 11, the Indians must win eight of 10 to tie.

Non-League Gridders Best In 2 Sections

NEW YORK (P) — Two colleges which aren't eligible for their conference championships this year are among the best bets to win sectional football honors this year.

They are Michigan State, a member of the Western Conference but not eligible to win the football title until 1953, and Maryland, serving a year's suspension from Southern Conference competition.

Those two, Georgia Tech and Oklahoma were the four institutions which dominated the Associated Press pre-season poll of newspaper and radio sports experts to pick the probable leaders in each section of the United States.

Michigan State was listed in the first spot by 31 of 51 Midwestern selectors and, on the basis of five points for first place, three for second and one for third, polled a total of 171 points. Illinois with 12 firsts and 130 points topped the teams eligible for the Big Ten championship, followed by Wisconsin with six firsts and 81 points.

Notre Dame, picked first by two ballots, polled 42 points to lead the entirely independent Midwestern teams.

In Southern Conference territory, Maryland gathered 27 first place votes and 145 points. Second was Duke with four firsts and 56 points. Then came independent Virginia with 25 points and Clemson, like Maryland under suspension for violating the conference anti-bowl rule, with 22 points.

Georgia Tech collected the biggest vote of all — 39 firsts and 241 points — and nearly doubled the point total of its nearest Southeastern Conference rival, Tennessee. Wyoming more than doubled the next-best figure in the Skyline-Rocky Mountain area and Oklahoma wasn't far under that margin.

Tennessee's second-place figure in the Southeast, where only six of the voters picked the Vols first, was 122 points. Wyoming drew six of the eight first-place and 37 points to Utah's 15. In the Midlands, Oklahoma was named first by 32 voters for 186 points. Then came Kansas with seven firsts and 106 points and Tulsa of the Missouri Valley Conference with one first and 32 points.

In other sections the somewhat closer voting races shaped up this way:

East — Pennsylvania (10 firsts) 58 points; Holy Cross (4) 32; Princeton (1) 28, with the rest scattered widely.

Southwest — Texas Christian (11) 78; Texas (6) 63; and Southern Methodist (4) 27. Texas Tech with three firsts and 18 points was the choice of those who limited their voting to the Border Conference area.

Sam Sneed Wins Eastern Open, Eyes Celebrities

BALTIMORE (P) — Sam Sneed has one new golf championship, the Eastern Open, on his victory belt today and has his deadly eye leveled on another.

Sneed won the Eastern Open by a margin of two strokes in his first crack at it yesterday and he has the same designs on the inaugural National Celebrities Open starting Thursday in Washington.

Besides adding another tourney championship to a list which already is close to 100, Sneed is interested in another $2,400 first prize.

The Eastern Open check for that amount boosted his year's earnings to $18,441. That leaves him only $862 behind third-place Jack Burke Jr. among the leading money winners. Burke is reported to have put away his clubs for the year to concentrate on getting married.

Sneed, whose devotion to the dollar is a standard joke among the pros, has been first or second in the money list since he started playing professionally in 1937.

ELMONT, N. Y. (P) —Crackling flames swept through a Belmont Park barn last night on the eve of the famous race track's three-week fall meeting. Twenty-three valuable thoroughbred horses were burned to death. Another horse had to be destroyed.

Twenty-five horses were rescued, although the blaze engulfed the huge wooden structure in 15 minutes. Some of the rescued thoroughbreds also were injured.

Cards Finally Defeat Koslo After 2 Years

By The Associated Press

There's a new version to an old story now.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated New York's Dave Koslo. It took the Birds two years and three months to catch him, but Sunday they did it with a vengeance.

Koslo was around for at least the beginning of an 11-run barrage the Cardinals uncoiled at the Polo Grounds in the fifth inning to ice up a 14-4 victory over the Giants.

The National League pennant picture didn't change as Brooklyn went down before Cincinnati, 4-0. The Red Birds sent 14 men to bat in the furious fifth, collecting nine hits and three walks as they blasted Koslo and Bill Connelly off the hill and continued their assault on Max Lanier.

Before the side was retired, Red Schoendienst, Stan Musial and Peanuts Lowrey got two hits apiece.

Schoendienst two singles, Musial his 17th homer and a double and Lowrey a single and double.

It was the first time Koslo had lost to the Cardinals since June 11, 1950. The string included 13 straight victories.

In St. Louis, the Browns took it on the chin twice as the Philadelphia Athletics won both ends of a twin-bill 10-5 and 2-1.

Little Bobby Shantz won the first game to notch his 23rd victory of the year. Alex Kellner tamed the Browns in the night-cap, called because of darkness at the end of six innings.

The Browns belted Shantz for 10 hits, but the A's did a better job on starter Gene Bearden and Marlin Stuart. All the scoring in the second game came in the sixth inning.

The A's were batting in the seventh with one out when Umpire Bill Stewart decided it was too dark to play.

Knoop Sluggers Beat Jr. Legion 10 to 2 At Cole Camp Sunday

The Knoop "Sluggers" of Cole Camp made it two wins straight over the American Legion Post 16 Jr. Legion team, by defeating the Sedalians 10 to 2. The game was played at Cole Camp Sunday afternoon.

Schwisher was the winning pitcher, allowing only seven hits. He was relieved by Bahrenburg in the seventh.

Delph started for the Post 16 team but gave away to Fall in the fifth. Mines did the receiving for the Post 16 team with Oglevie behind the plate for Cole Camp.

L. Viebrock led the hitting for Aus-Cole Camp with three out of four, one hit being a double. Knoop also hit a double. L. Burton led the Legion team, getting two out of five. Neal the Legion center-fielder, hit a home run in the fifth.

This was the final game of the season for both teams.

K-State Forfeits Victory—

Faurot Glad to Know Tigers Didn't Finish Last In '51

COLUMBIA, Mo. (P)—Coach Don Faurot of Missouri says he's glad to know his last year's football team didn't finish in the Big Seven Conference cellar after all.

In more than a quarter of a century of coaching, Faurot never hid a team in last place. Then his 1951 Missouri Tigers wound up at the bottom of the league.

But Saturday Kansas State College officials said they learned Joe Norman, an end, was ineligible last season because he played freshman football at Ohio State University and had not spent two semesters residence at K-State.

Big Seven rules require a year of residence before a transfer student can participate in athletics.

So the college forfeited last season's only conference victory—a 14-12 triumph over Missouri—and also a 6-6 tie with Nebraska.

That eased Missouri out of the cellar. Officially, the 1951 standings now show Missouri and Nebraska tied for fifth place with two victories and four defeats each.

K-State, with a 0-6 mark, is back in the cellar, where it's been since 1942.

"I guess we're glad to get out of the cellar—I know we are," Faurot commented. "Even though it's an unfortunate situation all the way around, it's not a very good way for us to win a football game, but maybe in the long run it will be good for the Big Seven."

Previously Kansas State authorities reported George Carter, a top punter, violated the same rule as Norman because he played at the University of Tennessee in 1950.

Royal Hall, a back who played less than a minute of game time during last season, also was declared ineligible. He didn't play in either the Nebraska or Missouri game, however. Hall attended Ohio State in 1950.

The Kansas State officials said they were unaware of the three boys' college background when they enrolled.

Top Aussie Netmen May Turn Pro After Winning Davis Cup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (P)—Our best guess at the moment is that both Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, Australia's two tennis go-to-his, will turn professional for promoter Jack Kramer immediately after they have helped defend the Davis Cup in the challenge round at Adelaide Dec. 29-31.

There is nothing concrete to support the bet, even after several recent conversations with the two players and with Kramer, but it still is something more than a hunch that the fans of this country are seeing the two great Aussies for the last time as amateurs.

Kramer, for one thing, is so confident that the big payday is in sight that he does not even plan to return to Australia this fall to give the two world champions another sales talk.

For another thing, Mrs. Nell Hopman, the charming wife of the Aussies' cup captain, says she thinks the pair will go for the money, too. Although it is extremely doubtful that "Elphie" Harry would tell his own wife the time of the day, Nell has at least been around the boys all summer and should be in position to make a spread guess.

Perhaps the most telling factor of all, in our opinion, lies in the abrupt alteration of circumstances since Sedgman accepted the $12,600 wedding gift from the Australian tennis public last January one hit being a double. Knoop also hit a double. L. Burton led the Legion team, getting two out of five. Neal the Legion center-fielder, hit a home run in the fifth.

Rents Are Not Frozen at Pre Inflation Level

The Federal Rent Stabilization program definitely does not freeze rents at pre-inflation levels, but adjusts them to give both landlord and tenant for treatment. In every instance, local conditions are taken into consideration.

That is the way Associate Area Rent Director C. A. Phillips summarizes the whole policy of rent adjustment in this community. Congress continued these provisions when it amended the Housing and Rent Act last June.

Landlords, he said, may ask the area rent office to approve higher rentals on three grounds: that he has increased the rental value of the property, that operating costs have increased or on the principle of comparability.

Rental value is increased when the landlord adds a new service or improvement to those provided when the property was registered — a refrigerator, for example.

"We've been accused of being completely unrealistic on this point but it is not true," Mr. Phillips declares. "When we grant rent adjustments to compensate for these additional services, we calculate the rental value of the services with allowance for 1952 increased costs."

"Moreover, the Rent Advisory Board before which landlord or tenant can appear if they are dissatisfied with the area rent office award, has gone into the question closely to determine whether the allowances granted are fair.

"Because it is difficult for some small landlords to provide records necessary to pinpoint the increase in their operating expenses, they can apply for the 20 per cent increase over June 30, 1947 rent levels ordered by Congress in July 1951, if they have not already taken advantage of the provision. However, increases are granted only if there has been no decrease in minimum services and equipment."

The comparability provision means simply that if a landlord is receiving less rent than the owner of similar units he is entitled to the higher rental.

On the other hand, the area rent director emphasizes rents are reduced if a landlord eliminates services provided when the property was registered. In some cases, the comparability principle also may result in rent reductions.

Bones of Frederick The Great, Father To Final Reburial

HECHINGEN, Germany (AP)—The bones of Frederick the Great and his father, Frederick Wilhelm I, rested in the 1,000-year-old hilltop Hohenzollern Castle here today after seven years of wandering. Members of the old imperial family brought the caskets of the two great Prussian kings from Marburg for reburial yesterday. The hallowed national relics will remain here, the family said, until "Germany will again be reunited in freedom."

The family hopes to return the bodies eventually to their former resting places at Potsdam, now in Soviet East Germany. They were removed from there during World War II and hidden in a salt mine in Saxony. The American Army later moved them to Elizabeth's Church in Marburg.

Red Cross Notes— Busy In August, Chapter Ready to Assist Veterans

There were no August "dog-days" as far as the Pettis County Chapter of the American Red Cross was concerned.

The service group report has been tabulated with the following statistics ready for publication: 96 certificated volunteers served 991 hours; the canteen served 1404 persons.

Mrs. Herbert Seifert gave the largest number of individual hours in her capacity as home service chairman.

Tornado and Blood Bank
The tornado and the visit of the blood bank were the highlights of the late summer, and while the first was in the nature of a tragedy, and the second was not quite as successful as could have been wished, both gave added conviction to the much stated fact that the Red Cross is ready and able to serve the community in peace as well as war.

Aid for Veterans
The chapter has been advised that many of the applications for veterans' mustering - out pay have been returned and thus there will be considerable delay in payment. The main reasons for rejection are as follows:

1. Instead of submitting the original Report of Separation, DD Form 214, many veterans are sending in photostatic copies. Only the original will be accepted.
2. In many cases the form is not fully completed.
3. Application by letter alone, (without the form) is not advisable, since the letter seldom contains the information requested.
4. Application form must accompany the Form 214. Many veterans are sending in this form without the application form.
5. In numerous cases the veteran is forgetting to sign the application form.

The Red Cross office has a supply of these forms, and will be glad to assist any veteran in completing application. If form 214 has been lost, Red Cross can assist in obtaining another one. All veterans are urged to take advantage of Red Cross assistance in this instance.

Japan Paper Says US to Turn Japan Defense Back Soon

TOKYO (AP)—The Mainichi Shimbun today said the U. S. plans to turn the defense of Japan's Northern island, Hokkaido, over to a new Japanese army of 14 divisions within two years.

The Mainichi, one of Japan's largest national dailies, said the plan was contained in a highly classified letter from Lt. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, Gen. Mark Clark's chief of staff, to Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. It did not say how it learned of the letter.

U. S. headquarters and the Japanese Foreign Office declined comment. The newspaper said the letter pointed the way toward the ultimate withdrawal of American defense forces when "Japan can protect herself from the presently overwhelming Soviet forces that menace Hokkaido."

The U. S. 1st Cavalry Division is garrisoning Hokkaido and the U. S. 24th Division is in Northern Honshu.

MoPac Shops Notes—

'Hap' Taylor and 'Jack' Bullock Retire From Work at Shops

I. H. "Happy" Taylor, boiler maker helper at the shops, has retired from active service. Mr. Taylor began working at the shops Oct. 9, 1922, and has been employed continuously since that time. "Hap," as he is known to his many friends, plans to take it easy for a while. Then he expects to train saddle and race horses, a career he followed before he began railroad work.

Charles H. "Jack" Bullock, machinist, has retired from service. Mr. Bullock, who has been working at the shops since Oct. 11, 1922, has been a welder in the machine shops for the past several years. "Jack," as he is known, plans to take it easy and as a hobby has taken up photography and plans on taking many pictures of scenery and friends.

L. R. Christy, chief mechanical officer for the Missouri Pacific, with headquarters in St. Louis, was a business visitor at the shops Thursday.

W. M. Sugg, mechanical superintendent of the western district with headquarters in Kansas City, and Harry Marsh, general car superintendent of St. Louis, spent some time at the shops the past week.

Jack Johnson, traveling boiler inspector for the Missouri Pacific with headquarters in St. Louis, was at the shops last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Thomas and son, Larry, have returned home after spending the past baseball season at Scranton, Pa., where Buddy played with the Scranton team in the Eastern League.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haggerty and children of Rock Island, Ill., are spending a few days vacation visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia. Mr. Haggerty is a machinist.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Winneger and son, Vernon, of Los Angeles, Calif., are spending a few days visiting relatives in Sedalia and then will visit with relatives in Springfield before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Nichols, Jefferson City, spent the weekend visiting relatives and friends in Sedalia. Mr. Nichols is a former Sedalian and was employed in the machine shop.

W. F. Hamilton, sheet metal worker, who has been a patient in the Veterans Hospital, Topeka, Kan., has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Slane have returned home after spending a two weeks vacation visiting and sightseeing in Denver and Colorado Springs. Mr. Slane is a clerk in the main office.

Mrs. Ted Schuerman, clerk in the main office, has returned home after being called to Marshall, Tex., on account of the death of her brother, Dan Love.

H. L. Williams, carman helper, who has been off duty for the past several months on account of illness, has returned to work.

W. E. Woolery, retired laborer, has returned home.

US Withdraws Cards of Three Red Soldiers

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army has taken accreditation cards away from three members of the Soviet military liaison mission here and ordered them out of the American zone. The action retaliated for similar Russian measures last month against three U. S. military men in Potsdam.

U. S. Army headquarters announced yesterday it had forced the three Russians — a lieutenant colonel, a captain and a private — to give up their passes on Sept. 5. Since then, they have remained in their mission compound here.

Three American Army men of the same ranks were arrested by the Russians north of Berlin in August and charged with spying in a restricted area. The Soviets later released the three but demanded the withdrawal from the U. S. mission at Potsdam, in the Soviet zone.

The U. S. Army announced yesterday that its "careful investigation" had proved the espionage allegation unfounded. It did not disclose whether the three men had been recalled, as the Russians demanded.

To retaliate, American Army officials said they notified the colonel who heads the 11-man Russian mission here on Aug. 28 that he

of his staff. When the order was ignored, U. S. military police on Sept. 5 took stations at the entrance to the mission with orders to stop any Soviet military personnel from leaving. Shortly after the passes were surrendered and the police detail was removed.

The Russians charged the Americans with blocking their Frankfurt mission, threatening its members must surrender the passes of three

Yanks Meeting Impasse In Oil Row With Iran

WASHINGTON — American officials are almost despairing of efforts to end the Anglo-Iranian oil impasse.

Authorities said privately today that Premier Mohammed Mossadeq has shown no interest in the proposal sponsored by President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill Aug. 30 to get negotiations going again.

Furthermore these officials who had previously been counting on concessions made to Mossadeq in that proposal, have no new moves in readiness if the situation should go from bad to worse.

Two Iranians who have been closely associated with the Premier politically are due here soon and the oil situation is expected to concern them both.

One of those, scheduled to arrive early in the week, is Hussein Makki, secretary general of Mossadeq's National Front party, who has an invitation from Vice President Robert L. Garner of the World Bank to take a look at the American oil industry. Makki has been in Germany for a month and is expected to remain in the United States about six weeks. He has been prominently identified with the Iranian oil nationalization program under which the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. was thrown out of Iran a year ago.

The other Iranian official due here is the new ambassador, Alahyar Salih, who is described as being a political follower of Mossadeq and as a man having the Premier's confidence.

What has apparently stumped

American officials who have been trying to get the British and Iranians together and who have emphasized fears of a Communist takeover in Iran, is that two weeks ago in the Truman-Churchill offer they thought they had the whole situation wrapped up for settlement. In months-long talks with American and British officials, Mossadeq had indicated what seemed to be his major demands. The Truman-Churchill proposal was designed to meet those demands, according to both British and American officials.

In substance it offered legal recognition of nationalization, dropped British insistence on supply technicians to run the oil industry, and provided means for Iranian oil to begin moving soon again to world markets. In addition it offered 10 million American dollars to ease Mossadeq's financial plight.

The Premier immediately rejected this offer and summoned Parliament to formalize his statement. The only reason that the attitude here is not one of complete despair is that Mossadeq has stalled off the opening of Parliament, originally set for last Wednesday, and has otherwise in-indicated that he wanted to keep the door to negotiation open. However, the expectation here now is that his rejection will be confirmed.

Protestant Group In Rome Meets In Secret

ROME (U.P.) — Members of the Protestant Church of Christ held secret services here in Catholic Rome yesterday after police blocked their regular meeting place and ordered worshippers away.

Cline R. Paden of Brownfield, Tex., who heads the small Protestant group here, said the sect held its services at a member's home. He refused to reveal the member's name or address, saying "it might hurt him."

An informed Italian source said the crackdown was due to the group's evangelical activities — about 1,000 conversions since World War II — in Catholic Italy.

Paden protested to the Interior Ministry that the interference with the service violated guarantees in the Italian Constitution of religious liberty, freedom of assembly and freedom of thought. A ministry official replied that the Church of Christ did not have government permission necessary to hold services, a requirement that members of the sect said was enacted during Mussolini's Fascist regime.

Paden said he had been trying for three years, without success, to get official recognition of his church.

Other Protestant denominations, including Methodists and Baptists, have experienced no such difficulties. The Church of Christ, which operates 22 churches and an orphanage in Italy, is supported largely by contributions from Texas.

Paden announced Saturday that his group's church at Alessandria was shuttered last Sunday, the Rome church had been ordered closed and the same action against the group's other churches had been threatened. The church's orphanage at Frascati was closed in 1949 during earlier agitation against its activities but was allowed to reopen after Texas members of the U. S. Congress protested to the State Department.

Defying the closure order here, Paden opened the doors two hours earlier than usual yesterday morning in the stone villa he uses for a church, within sight of Vatican City and Roman Catholicism's first church, St. Peter's Cathedral.

Two policemen promptly took stations at the stairs leading to the bare second-story meeting room. A red riot jeep and some 20 plainclothesmen backed up the blockade.

An American and an Italian passerby attempting to take pictures of the activity were carried off to a police station and held for two hours. Four other Americans, including a reporter; a Canadian, a German and 35 or so Italian worshippers were stopped from entering the church and ordered away.

There was no disorder, however.

Farm Made Over Year Ago For Vet Is Now Thriving

WAUSAU, Wis. (U.P.) — A year ago scores of farmers and carpenters toiled over 200 acres of cutover land in Marathon County to renovate the farm of Frank Flees.

Today the grateful 29-year-old ex-Marine, who came home inviolated from Guam and ran into bad luck, is running a prospering layout.

Flees had had great difficulty winning a living for his wife and two children from the farm's tough unproductive top soil. And then bad luck struck him. A chain snapped while he was silo filling and destroyed one of his eyes.

Dr. P. J. Przedselski, a county agent working with Polish settlers in several counties, began a campaign to aid the troubled ex-Marine. A modern farm was set in one day.

Businessmen wrote checks to help buy things the farm needed. One day farmers came with tractors and bulldozers to work the fields, clear the slash growth of scrub trees, spread fertilizer and reseed the fields. Foresters planted pine seedlings to give the farm a stand of timber. Carpenters put up a 20-stanchion barn, a machine shed and a seven-room house to replace the primitive one-room and a lean-to homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. Flees have a third child, born this summer.

Where bulldozers chewed out the stand of scrub trees last year there is a neat field of new corn.

The worn-out fields, where neighbors worked with lime and fertilizer a year ago are yielding better than three tons of alfalfa per acre, and the corn is sure to run 85 and perhaps 100 bushels an acre. The baby pines are more than knee high now.

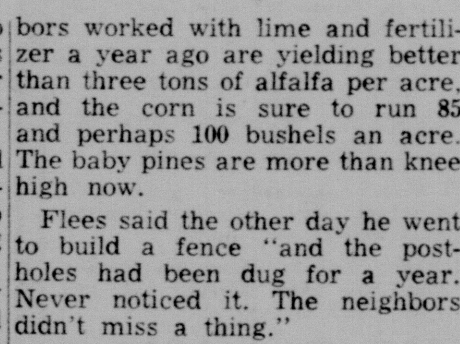

Flees said the other day he went to build a fence "and the post-holes had been dug for a year. Never noticed it. The neighbors didn't miss a thing."

State police said the shooting occurred after John DeYoung, 51, came home from a fishing trip early Sunday and found himself locked out.

His wife Susie, 48, was shot at the front door, and their daughter Violet, 20, was wounded critically.

The gunfire awakened nine children asleep upstairs in the house at Virgie, 15, miles northwest of Rensselaer.

Officials are trying to find a way to keep the 10 unmarried children together. The youngest is 3.

Husband Held In Death Of Wife, Mother of 13

RENSSELAER, Ind. (U.P.) — A railroad section hand was held today on a preliminary charge of murdering his wife, the mother of 13 children.

State police said the shooting occurred after John DeYoung, 51, came home from a fishing trip early Sunday and found himself locked out.

His wife Susie, 48, was shot at the front door, and their daughter Violet, 20, was wounded critically.

Find Father After 10 Years, Killed Day Before In Wreck

TAMPA, Fla. (U.P.) — Sgt. Kenneth E. Micken searched for his father for 10 years and found him a day late—dead in a traffic accident.

The father, 61-year-old Matthew Micken, had been a commercial fisherman in Tampa for 20 years.

Sgt. Micken, stationed at MacDill Air Force Base here since February, said he was an ardent sports fisherman and probably had been near his father many times without realizing it.

Micken was killed Friday night. The son read about it the next morning in a newspaper, checked with authorities and found the dead man was the father how left his family in Superior, Wis., more than 25 years ago.

Mrs. Youngkamp Home

Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp, Beaman, returned home Friday after an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. James Kane and family, Columbus, O. Vincent Youngkamp also visited several days with his sister and family. They were accompanied home by another daughter and sister, Mrs. J. R. Fowler and Mr. Fowler, Kansas City, who had spent two weeks touring the Southern and Eastern states returning to Ohio to visit the Kane family. While there they attended the ball game between the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers.

GRADUATES — Miss Ethyl Karl Starke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Starke, 1617 East Ninth, was graduated from the St. Louis Hospital for Nurses Monday night, Sept. 8, and has accepted a position as nurse at the City Hospital, St. Louis. She will begin her work immediately.

The commencement program, held at Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, was attended by her parents and a number of relatives and friends from Sedalia. The baccalaureate service was held Sunday, Sept. 7, at 11 a.m. at the same church.

Newest Volcano Already Declining

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U.P.) — Scientists back from their first aerial view of the world's newest volcano said today the belching mountain on an island off Mexico's West Coast already is on the decline.

Dr. Robert S. Dietz of the Naval Electronics Lab here said the volcano on uninhabited Benedicto Island in Mexico's Revillagigedo Group probably had its big blow-off when it started erupting six weeks ago.

While the volcano still belches clouds of smoke and yellow ash every 20 minutes, Dietz said gas odors from the 1,050-foot ash cone indicate the volcano is declining.

British Believe Ike Hurt Cause When He Made Peace With Taft

LONDON (U.P.) — Some sections of the British press declared today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, by making his peace with Sen. Robert Taft, has gravely imperiled his chances of becoming president.

The betting odds in favor of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, were slashed to 1 to 3 — $3 from the Stevenson backer to get one wagered against him — by one of London's biggest handbooks. A spokesman said, "We aren't encouraging any more bets on the governor. It was developing into a one-way book."

Mercury, smallest of the major planets, has a diameter of only about 3,000 miles, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

25 Overcome When K. C. Plant Burns

KANSAS CITY (U.P.) — Twenty firemen were overcome by fumes and several suffered burns in fighting a blaze at the Peters Serum Co. laboratories here yesterday.

The fire started in the basement of the three-story building. The damage was estimated at $90,000.

67 More Casualties

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Defense Department today identified 67 Korean War casualties in a new list (No. 649) that reported 16 killed, 46 wounded, two missing and three injured.

Some of the largest and hungriest species of mosquitoes are found in the Arctic.
